Big Five, Canada Given A-Bomb Dispute

Russian Proposal Beaten

Assembly Sure To Give O. K.

PARIS—(AP)—The United Nations voted today to turn the atomic energy dispute over to the Big Five and Canada with instructions to try for agreement on basic principles.

The 58-nation political committee rejected a Soviet proposal which would have outlawed the atom bomb simultaneously with setting up of an atomic energy control organization.

The committee also rejected an Indian propsal to send the U.N. Atomic commission back to work on a treaty for controls on the basis of findings approved by the majority but rejected by Russia.

The vote on the Soviet proposal was 39 to 6 with seven abstentions. Only the six Soviet-bloc nations voted for it.

The vote to turn back the dispute to the United States, Russia, Britain, France, China and Canada was taken on a Canadian resolution. The roll call vote was 41 to six, with 10 delegations abstaining and one absent.

WILL WIN EASILY

On the basis of this vote, the Canadian proposal is assured of easily winning the necessary two-thirds majority approval in the full general assembly, all of whose nations are represented in the political committee.

The action climaxed long east-west debate.

The Russian proposal to outlaw the bomb had been foredoomed to failure. Western delegates had denounced it

Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, White Russia and the Soviet Ukraine voted with the Russians for the Soviet proposal.

This has been the usual lineup in crucial assembly votes in the past against big majorities, cut down only by abstentions and absences.

When the Soviet deputy foreign minister first placed his proposal to outlaw the bomb before the U.N. early in this assembly session, the west described it as a "simple maneuver."

The Canadian proposal voted by the committee requested the Big Five and Canada to "consult in order to determine if there exists a basis for agreement on international control of atomic energy."

The vote came as the western powers looked hopefully to the six neutral nations of the security council to produce a resolution asking the Russians to lift the land blockade of Berlin. The neutrals, however, were reported trying to steer clear of becoming too deeply involved in the big power dispute over Germany.

Chest Drive Adds $3,386

Community Chest workers reported an additional $3,386 at noon today bringing the total raised to $23 859 toward this year's goal of $122,635.

Of this total the Blue Stars unit, headed by Harold Osmond, has raised $8 331, and the Red Feathers unit, headed by James McConnell, $15,528.

An additional $1,411 was reported from big industries and $195 from small industries.

Most of the industries said that they were beginning to solicit funds today and would have no reports until tomorrow or Friday. None of the industries in Osmond's unit had reported by noon today.

One more team in the special gifts division reported that it had exceeded its quota. Team 23, headed by W. W. Purdy, raised $585. Its quota was $503.

A number of special gift division teams still have not made a report.

Palestine Fighting Dwindles

(Compiled From Wire Services)

The Israeli government received today the United Nations order to cease firing in the Negev desert battle.

Fighting dwindled, but it appeared the Jewish army already had accomplished its major objectives.

The Israeli air force last night again bombed Gaza in an attack described as "heavy and successful." Jewish planes also struck Beersheba, El Arish, Majdal and Biet Jibrin.

An informant said Jewish infantry is "consolidating its positions" atop captured heights controlling two key roads of southern Palestine.

One road leads to the Negev and its 25 Jewish settlements. The clearing of this road was a declared objective of the Jewish attack which began last Friday. The second road was the Egyptians' own supply route to their front south of Jerusalem, the Beersheba road, which the Jews appeared to have breached widely.

In Cairo, Egypt's premier announced that he has just received the new United Nations cease-fire order but does not know when it will become operative.

Premier Mahmound Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha said it is up to Palestine Mediator Dr. Ralph Bunche to "fix details" of the cease-fire.

In Paris, Russian spokesmen charged certain factions in the United Nations were attempting to escape discussion of the Palestine problem until after the American elections.

Meanwhile Henry Morgenthau jr., representing the United Jewish Appeal, arrived in Tel Aviv today to confer with Israeli President Dr. Chaim Weizmann and other Jewish officials.

Chill Period Nearly Over

The October chill will begin to lift tomorrow with the temperature possibly climbing into the low 60's, the weatherman said today.

Mansfield found another heavy frost this morning, the third in a row, when the mercury dipped to 28 degrees. East Liverpool, Columbus, Wilmington and Toledo also reported readings of 28.

The weather was near freezing as far south as New Orleans, Chattanooga, Tenn., reported 33 degrees today.

Now that Ohio has had its "squaw winter," the Indian summer season should be along pretty soon, Forecaster C. G. Andrus of Cleveland said today.

"Actually," Andrus continued, "we couldn't really have an Indian summer, according to Indian lore, until we have a 'squaw winter,' the occasion of the first snowfall of the season.

"Well, we had that a few days ago so the period of warming up after the snowfall is what should be called 'Indian summer.' It usually occurs sometime after Oct. 15, as a rule, although some people would place it in November."

Comedian Fan Kills Admirer Of Give-Aways

RAVENNA —(AP)— A farmer who prefers comedian Jack Benny to a give-away prize program on the radio shot and killed his tenant, Sheriff George Shields reported today.

Shields said an argument over those programs led J. A. McDonald, 76-year-old widower, to shoot Jackson W. Bailey, 68, yesterday in the McDonald home at Rootstown township.

This was Shields' version:

Last Oct. 10, McDonald wanted to tune in the Benny show. Bailey and his wife preferred a give-away program. The Baileys won the argument but a bitter quarrel followed.

Yesterday the radio program incident came up again and McDonald got his shotgun. The Baileys went to a room where they kept a rifle but did not shoot it.

McDonald insists the shooting was accidental. Shields said a charge will be filed.

18 Enter Pleas Of Innocence

Trials To Open Week of Nov. 8

Eighteen of 20 defendants appearing for arraignment in Common Pleas court today pleaded innocent to indictments returned last Friday by the grand jury.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch said the defendants would go on trial, starting the week of Nov. 8.

Probation Officer Ralph Hughes was instructed to investigate the backgrounds of the two defendants who pleaded guilty so that they may be sentenced soon, possibly tomorrow.

The two who entered pleas of guilty were Hubert Hayes, Crestline, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, and Earl Frisch, Shelby, breaking and entering.

Stephen Moritz, 317 Third avenue, indicted on grand larceny charges, was not in court as he is being held by Summit county (Akron) authorities on a similar charge there, Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said.

Arraignment of Henry Swope, 75 Louis avenue, indicted on a charge of assault and battery, was deferred as the indictment was served on him last night and 24 hours must pass between the serving of the indictment and arraignment.

Those who pleaded innocent and

Tiny Child Kidnaped

Removed From Baby Carriage

BALTIMORE —(INS)— Jo Ann Mezzanotte, two and one-half-month-old baby who was kidnaped yesterday, was found today "alive and well" in a Baltimore suburban home. Police located the child in the home of an unidentified woman. The woman was taken into custody by police.

★

BALTIMORE — (INS) — Police and FBI agents today sought a mysterious blond woman in their investigation of the kidnaping of two and one-half month old Jo Ann Mezzanotte.

The woman, described as being about 45 years old, was reported this morning to have thrown baby clothing over a hedge around a cemetery in northeast Baltimore.

Authorities sped to the area in an effort to locate the baby, who was abducted from a carriage in front of a Baltimore drug store yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Frances Kacunski, a housewife, told police that she saw the blond woman drive up to the cemetery, look around carefully and then remove baby clothing similar to that worn by the missing child

After an extensive search throughout the night, authorities were still unable to find any trace of the missing baby, daughter of a 20-year-old railroad freight handler.

Police said that they are working on the theory that the child was kidnaped by a "crank" or a childless woman No ransom note was found in the baby carriage after the child's disappearance.

Tug-Barge Crash Claims One Life

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—One man is believed missing, but nine others are safe following the sinking of a tug boat, the Columbia, and its barge, the Rohde, near Baltimore last night, the coast guard here reported today.

Capt. Thomas Russell, 27, master of the barge, and his wife and baby were rescued last night after the tug and tow were in collision with the Norwegian freighter Bowgran in Baltimore North Channel. Crewmen on the tug, except for the cook, were also saved.

EX-TREASURER DIES

MIDDLETOWN—(INS)—A heart attack has claimed the life of Earl R. Bevis, former Middletown city treasurer. Bevis died late last night after a life squad took him to a hospital.

ESCAPE DEATH—Six house movers, eating their lunches under this newly-moved apartment house in Los Angeles, Calif., miraculously escaped death when the two-story frame building collapsed. The front section of the two-story building had just been lowered to its new foundations when it crumbled and splattered into a pile of rubble. Six scared movers crawled out from underneath—none of them even scratched.

Wallace Raps President

N. Y. To Hear Dewey As Truman Rests Up

(By Associated Press)

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey led off the final, big city vote hunt today with a New York speech as President Truman halted his campaign travels until Saturday.

The Republican presidential candidate is booked for a major talk tonight on the New York Herald Tribune forum. He is due to speak again in New York tomorrow night at a memorial dinner honoring the late Alfred E. Smith.

★

Mr. Truman meanwhile received Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's support in his drive to retain the White House lease for four more years.

"I am unqualifiedly for you as the Democratic candidate for the presidency," the former first lady wrote from Paris, where she is attending the United Nations assembly.

Her letter, dated Oct. 4, was released shortly after the President returned to the capital from his flying two-day visit to the South.

Mr. Truman plans to take off again Saturday for Pittsburgh where he opens his stretch drive for the big vote stakes in northern metropolitan areas.

BIG MONEY ON MARCH

Cautioning against "wasted Democratic votes," he told a state fair crowd in Raleigh, N. C., yesterday:

"Today big-money Republicanism is on the march, and to beat it we've all got to stand together That's where we Democrats belong —together—shoulder to shoulder."

Mr. Truman did not mention his civil rights program, which set off the split in Dixie Democratic ranks. Nor did he mention Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of neighboring South Carolina who heads the States' Rights party presidential ticket.

But he hinted that the dissatisfied Southern Democrats could cost their parent party the election.

"Everybody — South and North knows," the President said, "that there's only one choice in this campaign. Either the standard Republicans will buy the election or the standard Democrats will win.

"Other parties simply don't stand a chance."

The President came in for more attacks from Henry Wallace. The Progressive party's standard bearer said in Reading, Pa., last night that "Harry S. Truman has abdicated. He still sleeps in the White House, and that's about all."

Ohio Race Warming Up

(By Associated Press)

The Republican and Democratic candidates for governor of Ohio appealed to voters on opposite sides of the state last night.

Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert told a Butler county rally at Middletown he had worked to provide a "healthy climate" for industry and promised to continue to do so if re-elected.

Democrat Frank J. Lausche, Herbert's predecessor as governor, talked in eastern Ohio coal fields, winding up at Steubenville with renewed criticism of Herbert's administration of strip mining control laws. He also criticized the call for a special session of the legislature last summer to eliminate the sales tax on retail sales of less than 41 cents.

Herbert declared that his administration was pledged to promotion of "stable employment and full production economy."

"There are three basic elements in a healthy industrial development," he said, "new and growing industries full employment, and a just and reasonable tax program.

"This administration has taken positive action to provide a healthy climate for the growth of these factors. We pledge ourselves to such a course in the future."

Lausche reiterated to Cambridge, St. Clairsville, and Steubenville audiences that the strip mine act was "now in the hands of enemies of its enforcement." He again promised, if returned to the statehouse, "to carry on the fight until there is an adequate law on the books to deal with this desecration of the land."

Firm Stands By Its Guns

Tappan Replies To Action By NLRB

Continuing to defy a National Labor Relations board order to cease recognition of an independent union, officials of the Tappan Stove company notified their 850 employes today that they will "continue recognition of the Independent Employes association as the sole bargaining agent for Tappan employes."

The company said "the IEA continues to represent the wishes of a very substantial majority of Tappan employes just as it did at the time of the NLRB hearing in November, 1944."

The company's letter was issued following an action filed last Saturday in the U. S. District Appeals court in Cincinnati to force the company to comply with the NLRB order.

The previous order instructed the company to:

1. Cease recognition of the IEA.

2. Cease domination or interference with labor organization affairs.

3. Refrain from dealing with any union until one is certified by the NLRB.

Letters giving the company's answer were distributed to all employes

In the answer, W. R. Mabee, superintendent of the plant, stated:

"This action, filed in the United States Court of Appeals in Cincinnati (filed on Oct. 16), is another step by the NLRB to enforce its order which was issued on March 15 1946, over two and one-half years ago We are pleased that the NLRB finally has agreed to test the legality of its order in the federal courts

"The original NLRB request was the result of charges of unfair labor practices filed April 17, 1944 by the UEW (CIO) following several unsuccessful attempts by them to organize Tappan employes and become their sole bargaining agent.

"Because we did not concur in the fairness of the decision," Mabee continued, "we declined to comply."

Sad Tale of Unsounded Sour Note

CINCINNATI —(UP)— Willis A. Henderson, a rookie policeman, today was fired because he didn't hear a sour note.

The sour note was a signal for trouble at a night club where Henderson took an extra job While he was sleeping in a chair near the band someone slugged him and stole his revolver but the band didn't toot sour because they didn't see it.

When he reported theft of his gun to the police department he was discharged for violating such extra-hour activities.

Eight Crawford county men have received notices from the county draft board to report for a pre-induction physical examination Tuesday, the Crawford county draft board chairman announced today.

Once men have received their notice for pre-induction examinations they are no longer eligible to enlist, the Mansfield recruiting office said.

Crawford men receiving notices are: Roy Clifford Balliett, Willis Eugene Thompson and Harry A. Davis, all of Galion, Robert G. Schill and Bernard Joseph Gwartz, Crestline, Thomas Ray Donivan, formerly of Chatfield who now lives in Greenbrier, Tenn.; Leonard David Roberts of near Bloomville, and Joseph Weithman, New Washington.

Only four of the eight will be selected for final induction in late November.

The Crawford draft board said 20 men will be called for pre-induction examination in November. Eight will be selected for induction in December.

Crawford county's total draft registration is 2,315. Of the 90 men, 26 years old, who registered, only two were found eligible for service, draft board members said.

Odd Question Before Court

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The question of whether alleged injuries received by a child prior to its birth can be the basis of a damage suit will be reviewed by the Ohio Supreme Court.

The court today threw out a motion to dismiss an appeal from the Marion County Appellate Court which certified such a suit to the Supreme court as a conflict case.

The suit was filed on behalf of Mina Margaret Williams, an infant against the Marion Rapid Transit, Inc. The suit claimed the child's mother fell from a company bus and suffered injuries which resulted in her death and the premature birth of the child.

DEWEY ELECTED

ATHENS —(INS)— Thomas E. Dewey was elected president by a wide margin in a mock election held today at Ohio University at Athens.

Reds Lead Drive On Two Cities

U. S. Action Up to M'Arthur

SEOUL — Communist-led rebels were acknowledged tonight (Wednesday) to have captured two cities in bloody fighting provoked by a major revolt against the government of American-occupied South Korea.

Martial law was proclaimed this evening throughout the South Korean republic as reinforcements of loyal troops were rushed south from Seoul and east from the port of Pusan to help crush the insurrection.

(In Washington, Army officials said today that the use of American occupation troops to curb the revolt in southern Korea "is entirely up to Gen. MacArthur."

(Other Army sources said that if the revolt grows to serious proportions American troops will be used to restore order "if necessary."

(It is estimated there are about 30,000 American troops in Korea, and 127,000 in the whole Far East.)

The insurgent forces were understood to be in full possession of the cities of Yosu and Sonchon where a heavy death toll was believed to include more than 100 police killed in daylong battles.

HEAD FOR SEOUL

Armed rebels, including mutinous units of the national constabulary, increased their forces to nearly 4,000 at Sonchon alone and were moving north in the direction of Seoul, the republic's capital.

Another rebel column was reported pushing east toward the key South Korean seaport of Pusan from which government forces were rushed west to meet the insurgents.

There was no indication that American occupation troops had been ordered into action to help quell the uprising.

South Korean Home Minister T. Y. Yun announced that President Syngman Rhee, flying from a two-day visit with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo, will upon his arrival convoke an extraordinary cabinet meeting.

The communist forces driving north from Sonchon were understood to be advancing aboard a commandeered train, as well as in trucks and automobiles.

Reds Desert With Plane

VIENNA — (AP) — A twin-engined Russian bomber with two officer deserters from the Soviet Air Force landed at the American air base near Linz Oct. 9, American sources said today.

The plane and one member of the crew—a sergeant—were returned to Russian custody. Two officers who said they were fleeing the Soviet Union were given refuge in the U. S. zone of Austria.

The pilot and navigator of the plane said they were trying to escape for "political reasons" for more than a year, the U. S. sources reported

REDS DEMAND RETURN

The Russians demanded immediate return of both the plane and crew. U. S. Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes offered immediate return of the plane but refused to return the men against their will.

Soviet Col. Gen. Wladimir Kourassow was assured that any of the three who expressed a desire to return would be turned over to the Soviets immediately.

A Russian officer interviewed the men yesterday. The two officers stuck to their decision. The sergeant elected to return.

24 Horses Burned

CHICAGO —(AP)—Twenty-four race horses perished last night in a fire that destroyed a stable at the Hawthorne race track in suburban Stickney. The Cook county (Chicago) coroner's office said it had received a report that an unidentified groom is missing.

Mansfield Housewives Ring Doorbells

Move For Yellow Oleo Pushed In City

Mansfield housewives are being asked to sign petitions to place the colored oleomargarine issue before the Ohio legislature early in 1949.

The move is being sponsored the Association of Voters for Yellow Margarine, Inc., with headquarters in Columbus.

At least 10 Mansfielders, some of them housewives, are ringing doorbells to get 3,000 signatures, Mansfield's quota.

The initiative petitions would ask the legislature to make colored margarine legal. Under the present law, oleo makers must sell the margarine and coloring separately.

C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment office here, said the Association of Voters for Yellow Margarine had given his office an order for 10 persons to circulate the petitions. He referred the names of 11 persons to the organization and said he believed that all had been hired.

Each of the persons was given an average of 10 petitions to circulate and each petition has places for 30 signatures.

Handley said that he understands that the company is seeking to obtain 700,000 signatures in the state.

Date of issue on the petitions is Oct. 15. Mansfield workers were instructed that they must return the petitions by mail not later than Oct. 23.

The colored oleo question was brought before Congress last year but no action was taken after a bitter fight between representatives of dairy interests and those interested in changing existing laws which prohibit coloring of margarine before sale.

Organization to Offer More Services

YWCA to Step Up Its Program

An increased program of activities, planned to better serve the women of Mansfield is being set up by YWCA officials, and should be under way before the first of the year, it was learned today from Miss Agnes Kessler executive secretary of the local organization.

The new schedule is being planned to offer services to women which have not been a part of the YWCA program in Mansfield in the past, but are offered by associations in other large cities.

Much effort is being concentrated now on housing for women and girls with Miss Annabel Shamberger heading a newly-organized Room Registry committee which is seeking to find rooms in private homes to which they can refer transients and women who need housing while seeking employment in Mansfield

In the past two weeks three girls who were stranded here when their funds ran low while seeking employment were given aid through the Room Registry committee It was explained that in cases where the applicants are financially unable to rent rooms a small emergency fund is available through the Community Chest.

PROVIDE ROOMS

Many of the women have been housed in a room at the Womens club where overnight accommodations are provided at the request of YWCA officials

The association also receives numerous letters from out of town women requesting information on sleeping rooms during an anticipated visit to Mansfield a service that is part of YWCA work in large cities where such facilities

MISS BETTY BLACKSTONE
. . . heads city s YWCA

are provided at the associations headquarters

"The inadequate space at our local YWCA makes it impossible for us to offer accommodations here in our building but we are hoping through the Room Register committee to be able to provide rooms in private homes for such cases" Miss Kessler explained "Most of the requests come from young women who want the protection of an organization with which they are familiar while in Mansfield," she said.

Another program which should hold much interest for both men and women of Mansfield is being planned in cooperation with officials of the YMCA and will include a square dance program open to adults in the city with tentative plans calling for such affairs twice each month preferably on Saturday nights in the YMCA gym This attraction will include square-dance 'callers and appropriate music

Informal discussion programs for both men and women are being arranged by the two agencies to include meetings at which current events will be discussed, under the leadership of qualified speakers to be secured from nearby colleges as well as from the ranks of local citizens

PLAN MEETING

Both YWCA and YMCA staffs and committees will meet jointly to plan these new programs which are designed to better serve the adults of Mansfield along with the present programs planned for the young people of the city

Other plans on which YWCA officials are working now include expansion of the associations craft shop to accommodate both adults and young people with instruction in ceramics and clay modeling knitting linoleum block printing and textile painting These classes it was learned will be open to all women in the city

Plans, not yet completed, call for regular swimming classes for young girls and women at the Senior High school swimming pool

Miss Betty Blackstone is serving as president of the YWCA which is one of 12 Red Feather agencies supported by the Mansfield Community Chest whose annual drive for funds is now in progress

Gypsy Asks Gay Funeral

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — The sobbing notes of 50 gypsy violins and the flashing color of gypsy costumes will accompany Andrew Margitza to his grave Thursday.

Margitza, a king of the gypsy violinists, wanted in death the music he loved so much in life.

As he lay dying Sunday, the 60-year-old violinist told his son, William:

"Assemble the old musicians, the young musicians and the very young and have them play for me—in the grand manner—when they lower me down."

He asked his son to have his host of friends and relatives don the garb of their forefathers and form a parade to St. Michael's Roman Catholic church and thence to the cemetery.

There, on the bleak hills of the Braddock Catholic cemetery, the casket will be opened, and the old musicians, the young and the very young will sound the haunting unwritten strains of the gypsy dirge, "I Am Leaving You Forever."

A total of 10,617 locker plants were in operation in the U. S. as of July, 1948, reports the Department or Agriculture.

A FORMER NURSE, Mrs. Frances Cerny (right) shows how she saved the life of Alta Taylor, nine months old, by breathing into the child's mouth. The baby's mother, Mrs. Pauline Tackett (left) of Los Angeles, had been bathing the child. She left it alone for some moments. The tot slid into the water and was near death when Mrs. Cerny arrived.—(International)

Social Security Checks Total $64,475 Monthly In City Area

Three thousand and 381 residents of the six counties included in the Mansfield area are receiving a total of $64,475 a month in social security benefits, Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Social Security office here, said today.

The Mansfield area includes Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Knox and Morrow counties.

In announcing the old-age and survivors insurance benefits in force for the fiscal year which ended June 30, Blonston said that more than $773,000 annually is being paid to persons in this area.

These figures represent a 17 per cent increase in benefits payable over last year, he said. In addition, lump sum death payments have been made in cases where no person survives who is eligible for monthly benefits.

Blonston pointed out that the purpose of the program is to "replace in part those wages which the wage earner loses when he is compelled to retire, or to his dependents when he dies."

He said the program is a family insurance plan since more than three out of every five beneficiaries are women and children, both in this area and nationally.

He reminded workers over 65 that they may lose benefits if they are not aware of the fact that they can draw benefits for each month in which they do not work, regardless of the reason for their unemployment.

Blonston said that when a worker dies after working for some time in a job covered by the Social Security act, a member of the family should communicate promptly with the nearest Social Security office.

Marsfielder Pleads Guilty In Burglary of Restaurant

Police said today they had solved the burglary of Hank's restaurant, 187 West Sixth street, last week.

Walter L. Phillips, 30, of 335 Cedar street, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond in municipal court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering. Officers said he confessed the burglary.

Bennie Barker, 221 North Adams street, was sentenced to 10 days in jail on a charge of assault and battery brought by Lessie Barker. He struck her on the head with a bottle and she required hospital treatment, she said.

Myron King, 403 Wayne street, charged with driving a motor vehicle onto a railroad crossing against the signal, was released. Judge H. H. Schettler ruled, that there was insufficient evidence to convict King.

King reported to police Sunday that he had broken through the Pennsylvania railroad safety gates at 3 a. m. He said the lantern on the gate was not burning and that he did not hear the warning bell. He said the rain obscured his vision.

Luther Snow, Forest Garden Trailer camp, was fined $10 and costs and was given a 10-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of threatening in a menacing manner. The affidavit was signed by Frank Mitsch, proprietor of the Mitsch market.

Theft Unnoticed For Three Years

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—A $10,000 house was stolen from the Navy in 1945 and the theft wasn't discovered until 1948.

The Navy reported it did not discover the theft immediately because the eight-room house wasn't in one piece when it was taken. Arthur A. Hlavin of Lake Villa, Ill., pleaded guilty to taking the materials with which his house was built while he was custodian of the Navy's reclamation yard at Great Lakes.

Four New Stamps Due By Nov. 6

Will Rogers Issue Due Next Month

Four new commemorative three-cent postage stamps will be issued by the Post Office department before Nov. 6, Curtis L. Ford, acting Mansfield postmaster announced today.

A Rough Riders Commemorative stamp will be issued through the Prescott, Ariz., post office Oct. 27. The stamp marks the 50th anniversary of the organization of the Rough Riders of the Spanish-American War, the first volunteer United States Cavalry.

The second commemorative stamp will be issued through the Savannah, Ga., post office Oct. 29. It honors Juliette Low, founder and organizer of Girl Scouting in the United States.

A commemorative stamp honoring Will Rogers will be issued through the Claremore, Okla., post office Nov. 4.

The fourth commemorative stamp will be issued through the El Paso, Tex., post office Nov. 5. It marks the 100th anniversary of the establishment of Fort Bliss.

MAROON COLOR

The printing of 50,000,000 Rough Rider stamps has been authorized. The stamp, printed in maroon, will be issued in sheets of 50 subjects.

The central design depicts the equestrian statue of Capt. William Owen "Bucky" O'Neill, commander of Troop A of the Rough Riders, who was killed in action while leading his men in the battle of San Juan hill, Cuba, July 1, 1898.

The Juliette Low stamp, printed in green, will be issued in sheets of 50 subjects.

The central design is a portrait of Juliette Gordon Low. To the left is the wording "Founder of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A," and to the right is the Girl Scout emblem.

The Will Rogers stamps, printed in purple, will be issued in sheets of 70 subjects.

The central design is a portrait of Will Rogers with the words, "I never met a man I didn't like"—Will Rogers, below it. On the left and right are narrow draperies with the denomination above the portrait and the words, "United States Postage" in the lower border.

The Fort Bliss stamp will be printed in brown and issued in sheets of 70 subjects.

SHOWS FT. BLISS

The central design of this stamp is a triangular ornamented frame in which appears the picture of Fort Bliss with a rocket in flight. Below the fort are the words: "1848 El Paso Texas 1948," and in the top border, the words "Fort Bliss Centennial." A mountain scene and an old mission complete the design.

Stamp collectors desiring first-day cancellations should send not more than 10 addressed envelopes to the postmaster of the issuing post office. A postal note or money order to cover the cost of the stamps should be enclosed.

The new commemorative stamps are expected to be available at the Mansfield post office within a week or 10 days after the announced date of issue.

Piles
Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Wilberforce Prexy Raps Ohio Action

Students Hold Protest March

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The long-smoldering Wilberforce university dispute began to give off political smoke today

After a protest march on the state capitol by most of the students of the Negro university, its president Dr Charles Leander Hill, urged members of the African Methodist Episcopal church to vote against Gov Thomas J. Herbert in the election Nov 2.

Dr. Hill asserted in a radio address last night that the state had "taken away" the property of the church in the course of a campus split which left two Negro institutions side by side in the Greene county village of Wilberforce, just east of Xenia.

One is the university, supported by the A M E church The other is known by court order, as the State College of Education and Industrial Arts at Wilberforce, Greene County

Dr Hill asserted that the latter had used the name 'Wilberforce State College" on its diplomas and added in his radio talk

"I call upon every loyal son of the African Methodist Episcopal church to thunder against you (Governor Herbert) from his holy place I call upon every church member of the Negro race to scratch your name on election day"

STUDENTS PARADE

Dr. Hill made his speech after he and several other university officials who took part in the march conferred with John Robert Jones, the governor's secretary. Governor Herbert himself was in southern Ohio campaigning

They said they wanted the governor to name a committee of educators to work with trustees of the two schools in an effort to heal the split.

The march, marked by rhythmic cheerleading and spiritual singing, took place late in the afternoon. The students carried banners and signs such as "they stole our name," "Herbertism is Talmadgeism," "Herbertians raped Wilberforce," "Down with the Jim Crow College," and "We Don't Want Georgia in Ohio."

The dispute arose partly as a result of action of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in disaccrediting the university.

Directory Due In '49

Mansfield will get a new city directory, probably in February.

Canvassers for the Burch Directory company of Akron, publishers, have nearly completed a house-to-house check of Mansfield homes and business places in preparing information for the book.

Nine workers have been ringing doorbells in the city for the past six weeks and their work should be completed next week, L. C. Spriggle, Mansfield agent of the Buch company, said.

The last directory was issued in the spring of 1947 The new directory will list the names, addresses, telephone numbers and occupations of all the city's residents and include a church, business city and county officials, business and street directory as well as other information about the Mansfield area

Railroad Plans New Signal Light

SHELBY — Elimination of at least one railroad-traffic crossing hazard in town is certain today.

When questioned last night, W. B. Squire, agent for the Big Four railroad said that part of the material for the erection of automatic signals and gates for the North Broadway crossing had arrived and as soon as the balance was shipped work would begin. However, just how soon this would be was not known.

Mayor William Morris said last night that to date he has had no response from the Big Four regarding the Smiley avenue crossing. This crossing has been the scene of two accidents and scores of near accidents in the past six months.

Girls Swap Used Uniforms

ASHLAND — Girl Scouts and Borwnie Scouts flocked into the Girl Scout headquarters here last week for the first "uniform exchange," with the result that uniforms exchanged hands down the line throughout the day.

Brain-child of Mrs. George Arnold, president of the Girl Scout Leaders organization, the exchange permitted sale of uniforms at half price or less, together with other outgrown equipment such as regulation hats and socks.

An original idea here, the exchange is expected to spread to other cities as many of the customers were girls from other towns in the area.

More than fifty uniforms exchanged hands during the day, according to Mrs. Arnold, who served as chairman for the exchange, assisted by other Scout leaders.

Money received for the uniforms went to the original owners, many of whom used it to purchase larger used uniforms for themselves.

Lausche and Bricker To Invade Crawford

BUCYRUS—Both Democrats and Republican parties will hold major rallies here this week with Sen. John W. Bricker headlining the Republican gathering and former Governor Frank Lausche speaking at the Democratic meeting.

Senator Bricker will appear Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Elks Home under sponsorship of Crawford County Republican Women's clubs. A reception and tea will follow the meeting, which is being arranged by Mrs. Martha Wheatcraft, prominent Republican worker of Galion.

Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock Mr. Lausche will speak on Washington square. The various Democratic candidates for county offices also are expected to be present and will be introduced.

The Republican rally also will include the appearance of Cong. Frederick C. Smith of Marion and introduction of the party's county candidates.

Last Friday, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert addressed an outdoor meeting here in the first major Republican rally of the campaign.

Re-election of Mrs. S. K. Sollars, Bucyrus teacher, as president of the Bucyrus Music club took place this week at the club's initial rehearsal for "The Messiah," which will be presented in December.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1948

If football does not become too engrossing, more Americans may now give their attention to the election.

It is now being suggested as not too soon to start dropping hints as to what would be appreciated as a Christmas present.

Fate of Park Hinges on Public Road

MANY WILL HOPE that obstacles in the way of developing a proposed 400-acre public park adjoining the Pleasant Hill reservoir will be "ironed out," as is considered possible by Bryce Browning, secretary-treasurer of the Muskingum Conservancy district.

The tract of ground involved lies in both Richland and Ashland counties and decision as to vacating the controversial road running through the property rests with the board of commissioners of both counties.

Protests against re-locating the present public road, so as to eliminate the dangers involved in having it run directly through the park and playground area, resulted in commissioners refusing to vacate the road, as was requested by directors of the conservancy district.

With an estimated $75,000 already spent in preliminary work toward development of the park, further progress is now stymied by differences over the road location, which, as Mr. Browning hopes, will be "ironed out," rather than the whole project be abandoned and some other park site chosen.

As the proposed park would be about 12 miles southeast of Mansfield, and readily accessible to thousands in this area, the matter is one of considerable interest in this community.

Home Ownership By Compulsion

UNDER the conditions of housing scarcity in the post-war period, home ownership apparently is becoming substantially more widespread than would have been the case had houses remained more plentiful. No really accurate estimate can be made as to the number of families that have bought homes in the past two or three years primarily because they needed housing and could not find a place for rent.

Ownership is becoming so popular that some leaders in the banking business talk of home ownership by 75 per cent of United States families as a goal which might be reached within the next five years.

Whether this high rate of home ownership will turn out satisfactorily remains to be seen. Large numbers of the families which bought homes since the war have contracted to pay more than they could afford by previously accepted budget rules. While there is increasing pressure on the building industry to provide lower-priced houses, it continues to be hard to find a house which suits the needs of a family at the price the family can afford to pay.

If the present period of prosperity should lead to a depression like that of the thirties, obviously trouble would be in store for many who assumed indebtedness in buying a home. If the income level continues to be high until a substantial portion of the debt can be liquidated, the high proportion of home ownership should thereafter be a strong influence toward economic stability and security for the family.

How Much Will An Operation Cost?

WHILE there are ample grounds for objection by the medical profession to what is called "socialized medicine" it would be well for members of that profession to make a checkup of some of the reasons why a considerable number of people feel that some form of government supervision offers the only opportunity for assurance of medical and surgical care for those who are unable to pay the high fees about which they hear from time to time.

A case in point is of recent occurrence in this area—one in which an operation was found to be required and which was performed in a large city hospital some distance from the patient's home. Hospital charges were no higher than anticipated, but when the surgeon's bill was received by the widow (the patient had died in the meantime) the charge of operation was listed as $5,000.

Inquiry elicited information that an ordinary charge for such an operation would be around $250, or not to exceed $500, and the question that arises is how—unless there is some supervision of charges—is a person in moderate circumstances to be assured of needed medical or surgical care if such latitude in fees is to be permitted.

The subject of fee-splitting is also associated with any discussion of charges for an operation and a recent item from Cleveland is to the effect that a committee of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine has asked the Better Business Bureau of that city to investigate "kick-back" agreements which boost the patient's bill "and bring certain doctors a share of money spent for drugs and eyeglasses prescribed."

Possibly this investigation could be expanded in scope to the extent of determining a fair charge for an operation billed at $5,000 but ordinarily performed for not more than a tenth of that amount.

New Income Peak Attained

PERSONAL INCOME in the United States reached an all-time high in August, according to census bureau reports. The annual rate attained was 215 billion dollars. The corresponding total for 1947 was 190 billion dollars. Wage and salary increases, with some expansion in employment, have caused the growth.

This is one aspect of inflation which is popular. The deflation, to which most economists says the country must ultimately come, will enforce a reduction in these lush figures, and that will be unpopular with many persons who now complain about inflation.

Even the most unreliable person may be believed these days if he says that he has been having car trouble.

What Some Other People Are Saying

GEN. JONATHAN WAINWRIGHT, commander of the Disabled War Veterans: "America is confronted with difficulties in the non-distant future . . . the Berlin crisis is a mess. We ought to tell them if they don't loosen that blockade, we'll loosen them up."

BERNARD M. BARUCH, statesman and financier: "I do not believe another war is imminent, but the fear remains. . . . Fear of war must not freeze peaceful atomic use."

U. S. SENATOR MARGARET CHASE SMITH (R-Me): "Until we achieve long-range planning for efficient administration of European economic aid, it will be necessary to maintain high standards of national defense. Such defense expenditures just increase the cost of living."

The Nation Today

Can There Be Peace

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON- Can there be peace with Russia?

That's the No. 1 problem of our time. President Truman told the American Legion at Miami.

Then he said there's a "dark fog of distrust" between Russia and the West, and while it remains there's not much hope for settling disputes.

But the distrust has been there from the beginning. So here in simple form is an outline of the peace problem and the cause of the distrust.

Take the position of this country first.

Between the communist revolution of 1917 and World War II Russian communism stayed within the borders of the Soviet Union.

The communists under Stalin there thought it smarter to build up their strength at home before they tried any adventures elsewhere.

But while the Russian communists stayed inside Russia, the United States and the rest of Europe could go on doing business among themselves and even trade with Russia.

The picture changed after the war. There was no country on the continent of Europe which the Russians had to fear. They began to put on pressure. Almost all the countries of eastern Europe fell under Russian control, run by their own communists.

And the communists in the western democracies of Europe tried to win power, too.

But where does this stop, if the United States is going to survive?

Suppose, then, that without that aid western Europe collapsed, revolutions followed and the communists took over.

That would mean an all-communist Europe.

But would the communists stop there? Why should they? Taking over Africa then would be easy for them.

And if we withdrew into true isolation, it would mean stopping aid for China and Japan. That would leave all Asia open to the communists.

The next step—through uprisings of the local communist parties—would be Latin America. That would make us and Canada two little islands of capitalism in a completely communist world.

Do you think we'd survive long—at least in the form we have now—that way?

* * *

Russia's Ultimate Goal.

BUT SUPPOSE we reached a point of talking real peace with Russia a question would arise.

Could there be real peace with Russia so long as the Communist parties within this and other countries survived?

They act as agents of Moscow now and, unless some agreement was reached with Russia about them, they'd certainly continue to act as Soviet agents, stirring up trouble, waiting for a revolution to take over.

And Russia could hardly be expected to turn her back on those other Communist parties. Why?

Because that would leave Russia surrounded by capitalistic states, without any hope that some day, through internal upheavals, communists inside those other countries would come to power.

It would mean, in a way, abandoning hope for world communism. But the communist leaders of Russia believe western capitalism will collapse and there will be word communism. They live by that belief.

From the beginning Russia has distrusted the western world because it looks upon communism and capitalism as mortal enemies. And Lenin, who set up communism in Russia, taught that capitalism can't be wiped out except by world revolution.

If the capitalistic democracies, through U.S. help, grow strong again in western Europe—and particularly if they keep western Germany under their wing- Russia knows they are always potential allies of the U.S. in any war with Russia.

And Russia, whose philosophy is to wipe out capitalism, fears the danger of war from strong capitalistic countries if a crisis arises in the future.

All this doesn't mean Russia wants to go to war now. Time is on her side, the communists think. They are banking on a world depression to set off collapses and revolutions and win for her easily what she might not be able to win in a shooting war now.

Meanwhile, within every country, the local Communist parties will be trying to push for revolution.

With that in mind, how do we work out peace?

Thorium Stock Rackets

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — You might just as well relax, citizens. That thorium you have on the old homestead may save the place from the sheriff but then, it's just as likely that it won't.

And if you're trying to peddle the place for more than it normally would be worth, on account of its monazite possibilities, you might just as well quit. Only time will tel labout thorium and monazite and the like.

Or so says the Atomic Energy Commission, after being barraged with letters on the subject.

It seems that some people have been working the old skin-game on the thorium subject, while others have been honestly interested in what it might mean. All of which has put the A.E.C. on something of a spot.

For a long time now among scientists thorium has been recognized as a potential source of fissionable material. That being so it was placed under the control of the Atomic Energy Commission back in 1946. But nobody said much about it at the time and nobody seemed to give it any particular thought.

During those days the only thing mentioned as fissionable material was uranium and radio comedians had themselves quite a field day with the name.

Also, a lot of erstwhile gold-mine salesmen started to peddle uranium stocks to the widows and orphans. As a result of the unintentional advertising it became the biggest phoney stock in trade of the year.

But, as time went on, it became apparent that there weren't too many uranium mines around for the asking. Thus, both the legitimate and the phoney trade suffered a slowdown. Uranium mines like the Brooklyn bridge weren't selling so well any more.

* * *

Stock-Selling Schemes.

IT WAS some time early this year— April or thereabouts -that the Atomic Energy Commission publicly announced that it was technically possible to derive uranium 233 from thorium.

It seemed according to the A.E.C. announcement, that all they had to do was utilize a method similar to the one by which plutonium was derived from uranium—if that means anything to you.

Well, since then the A.E.C. boys have had a tough time of it. It seems (if all this technical stuff isn't boring you too much) that the principal ore from which the element thorium is obtained is known as monazite, and there is considerable monazite scattered hither and yonder across the country.

You can imagine what has happened to thorium (nee monazite) since then. It has become strictly the uranium understudy in the quick sale rackets, not to mention the inroads it has made in the legitimate transaction markets—if there be such.

As a result, the Atomic Energy Commission has felt forced to issue a clarifying statement on the subject. It admits that a "strict control of exports and a complete record of domestic movements of thorium-bearing materials, including monazite ore, is maintained by the commission pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1946."

But it goes much farther.

It says that the usefulness of thorium and its principal source in nature, monazite ore so far as the commission's program is concerned, is limited for the present time to research. Accordingly, the only thorium the commission purchases is for experimental purposes, chiefly in the form of thorium salts, and the commission has no purchase program for monazite ore as such . . ."

In short, citizens, it seems that neither thorium nor the monazite ore from which it generally comes is in particular demand these days. And if you've just been sold a mine containing same, it may be you're out of luck.

Apparently there are all too many fissionable materials available these days, including—if you would excuse the morbid touch—human flesh.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Views of Truman and Top Brass Clash

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Truman's executive order directing Defense Secretary James Forrestal to expedite the training of reserve contingents was an indirect slap at Army Secretary Kenneth Royall and Air Secretary Stuart Symington.

While the Navy has kept its reserve training program in good shape, Royall and Symington have lagged behind in planning reserve units for the Army and Air Forces.

The top brass in the Pentagon building, whose views are echoed by Royall and Symington, frown on reserve training, want a big standing army costing the taxpayers $20,000,000,000 annually.

However, when Royall and Symington presented the brass hats' views at a recent White House meeting, Truman cut them short, pointing out that there are more than 10,000,000 ex-servicemen in the country, trained in the last war.

"These men, or a large part of them, would have to be called back anyhow, if there is another war," declared Truman. "So, why not draw on this experienced manpower now for reserve training. This idea of establishing a big standing army is ridiculous, unnecessary and far too costly."

Secretary of State George Marshall, former chief of staff, and Adm. William D. Leahy, head of the joint chiefs of staff, share this view. Marshall and Leahy have told the President that what we need is not a big standing army, but a big and well-trained reserve corps to back up a small standing army.

What Farley Overlooked.

JIM FARLEY, Senator Chan Gurney and other dignitaries recently wined and dined in Spain should interview some of the Spanish people before hurrahing for recognition of Dictator Franco.

Spaniards escaping from Spain these days are willing to talk freely, though anonymously. They tell a grim story of constantly increasing privation, of government terror and wholesale violence by the population.

"It took me 38 months to get an exit visa, going at least twice a month to make inquiries," said a young Spanish civil engineer who reached Buenos Aires as an immigrant. He added: "I wanted to go to Mexico, but last year they told me I'd have to change my application and make it for Argentina or it wouldn't be considered."

Another arrival on the same ship related: "One early morning last May, six civil guards broke into our house and took away my entire family — my father, sister, three brothers and an aunt.

"They were all jailed in the local military prison and kept on potato peelings and water for five weeks. The women had their clothes confiscated and were given flour sacks to wear. The men were questioned daily and beaten when they couldn't answer satisfactorily.

"What the authorities wanted to know was the whereabouts of a certain socialist leader of the district. My family knew him by name but nothing more. Finally, they released all but two of my brothers. My father was so badly injured he's been in a hospital ever since.

"Our house was over a store, which we also owned. When the family got home, they found the entire building burned to the ground by the local falange squad.

"I was traveling in Portugal when all this happened. A friend got word to me and warned that I would be arrested at the frontier if I returned. You see, the socialist was my friend. He has been hiding in the mountins for three years, but his wife was once seen talking to me on the street.

"It took me almost three months and cost $2,000 in bribes to get out of Portugal. My family is now being looked after—all except the two brothers still in prison . . . but I'll probably never see any of them again."

A building construction foreman, who also escaped to Argentina, said: "It used to be that the civil guards always patrolled in pairs for protection. Now they never show themselves in less than threes, one with a submachine gun. Even so, in the countryside, they often don't return.

"Sabotage has reached a new high throughout Spain. Blowing up military trains and railroad bridges is almost as common as during the civil war."

These are conditions which Messrs. Jim Farley and Chan Gurney might well think over.

The Diplomatic Pouch.

STATE department officials frown on large shipments of arms to France for fear the commies might later take over . . . The Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark — are secretly negotiating a neutrality pact of their own in order to stay out of the east-west battle. They claim they can't afford the money it would require to turn Scandinavia into an armed camp against Russia . . . The state department is now split over return of the Italian colonies. U. S. Ambassador James Dunn in Rome wants to give the colonies back to Italy. The state department's African division wants to stand behind Britain and keep the colonies for defense bases in the middle east. . . . Australian Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt, president of the U. N. general assembly, has been active behind the scenes trying to solve the east-west crisis.

Viewing the National Scene

South Becomes 'Unsolid'

By THOMAS L. STOKES

Editor's Note — Thomas L. Stokes is on a swing through the South to assay the political situation there. He will visit seven southern states, returning to Washington on or about election day.

* * *

RICHMOND, Va. — This traveling reporter came first to this former capital of the Confederacy on a projected tour through the South in quest of the only story in this election campaign which still seems unsettled, which is what will happen in the South and, evolving from that, what this will mean to the future of the Democratic party.

It is quite a psychological experience, even to one who is no stranger to the South. It is like the sudden opening of the door to a blast furnace from which the heat literally slaps you in the face, or to change the simile, like opening the door to a meeting room at the end of a quiet corridor to have angry voices in tumult engulf you in a quick storm.

It is, too, like coming into a different world. It is only a hundred miles from the national capital—where those who live about Harry Truman daily see in him a mild-mannered, if earnest and determined gentleman in some respects, and look upon his civil rights program as a natural step in the progress of our democracy, even if perhaps ill-timed for his own political good—but here he is an evil genius.

Where his predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was spoken of by many with righteous hate, but with respect, the present occupant of the White House is spoken of contemptuously and with disrespect.

And his civil rights program is an invention, literally, of the devil.

Virginia is frigidly on the brittle manners of resentment once familiar in another bygone age of controversy.

Out of it all emerges a significant political pattern for this year 1948, which also might be 1848, or at least 1860. Many are mad enough to leave the traditional party of their fathers and vote for Governor J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the Dixiecrat presidential candidate, who is no John C. Calhoun, nay, not even, at the other extreme, a good rabble-rouser though exuding the patter of the demagogue. He is only an excuse. He is no hero to his Virginia valets.

* * *

Republicans Are Active.

THERE are many orthodox Republicans in Virginia — Governor Dewey got 144,320 votes here four years ago. 37.5 per cent of the vote. These regulars will be joined this year by many regular Democrats who had rather go frankly Republican than take the Thurmond compromise, and this includes those in the business element who are Republicans by instinct and party philosophy anyhow, and now have a valid excuse to break away.

The consequence, it appears, is that Governor Dewey will carry Virginia.

The only way such a situation might be salvaged for President Truman, it seems, would be for the regular party machine to pitch in and call out the reserves and go down the line for him. But the machine is doing nothing like that.

Quite the contrary. Senator Harry F. Byrd, its owner and director, has not endorsed the President and is, as they say here, "picking his apples" — he grows them most profitably down around Winchester.

Wrapped, too, in complete philosophical calm is the senator's right-hand man, the canny, shrewd E. R. Combs, who runs the machine with two hands, one as clerk of the senate, the other as chairman of the state compensation board that fixes salaries of state employes, components of the Byrd machine, down to game wardens.

The Byrd machine seems pleasingly resigned to a Dewey victory —its most reliable political forecaster says the New York governor will carry the state—and it is giving sufficient encouragement to the Thurmond forces, privately and quietly, to help bring that about.

Republicans are putting on a very active campaign, well organized all over the state. Out of the mixed-up situation they might pick up a House seat or two, aside from carrying the state for Governor Dewey.

Dave Boone Says:

IF ANY human being stood out over his field the way Citation, a horse, stands out over his, the world wouldn't be at such a loss for a leader. This animal won another race, the International, last Saturday, putting him close to the world record for money earned and he is only three years old.

* * *

Citation is such a success he is bound to be investigated, sued as a trust and probably put under federal controls.

* * *

Europe sent some horses to this race and they haven't finished yet. It will mean further international ill will toward us. I figure it just about undoes everything General Marshall and ERP did for us in Europe.

* * *

Russia didn't have an entry in the race. I expect Vishinsky will come out with a tirade demanding that either Moscow share the secret of Citation or that the horse be abolished.

Farmer's Diary

Weeds Deserve Study

By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUT beyond the wall where we dump the ashes and burn the trash, several thrifty lambs-quarter weeds grow, as high as my head. They are symmetrical and sturdy, heavily laden with clusters of small green seeds. Noticing them earlier in the season, I wondered why they grew so well in that particular spot, since the ground was hard, stony and seemed to lack moisture. Frequently they are found where the soil is hoed, manured or composted.

Today I saw a half dozen sparrows perched upon the branches of this tall weed, enjoying breakfast. The little seeds are mostly green, but the feathered gourmets hunted and found some that suited their taste, for they lingered, chittering, for quite a while.

Whatever furnished so much energy in such a small package I thought, must be valuable food. The little birds were lively, warm, happy and full of power. Wondering what a diet of bird seed tastes like, I went over and tasted some. But beef steak is better.

A friend who has a mineralized garden claims that even the weeds grown there have value, especially when added to compost. The whole matter of weeds is one that is too little understood.

Many weeds have medicinal properties — for example, burdock, fennel, wormwood, the various garden herbs, horseradish, ginseng, nettles, etc.

Study of weeds reveals much about the nature of the soil on any farm. Daisies, horsetail, field sorrel, etc., show acid soil; as do wild strawberries. Hard-pan is indicated by field mustard, nettles, morning glories, and quack grass, to name a few.

Goldenrods, asters, wild lettuce, yellow toad flax, broom bush show sandy soil; sage brush and woody asters grow in alkaline soil. Mallows, wormwood and red clover indicate potassium, but clover disappears when potassium is replaced by too-acid conditions.

A dynamic weed common in these parts is quack grass, which propagates by broken roots and is almost impossible to get rid of. Attempts to cross this grass with wheat result in weakling stalks—but it makes good cattle feed, and is valuable to hold eroding slopes in line.

Dandelions mean good soil — good enough to grow grains, clover or alfalfa. Chamomile means a crusty soil, and its presence stimulates wheat to a greater yield, if not overdone. It is good for compost, since it is rich in potassium and calcium. Swampy horsetail is valuable as indicator of insufficient drainage or cultivation; it is the last remainder of the huge trees of the carbon forests.

As Cerf Tells It

The quick-tempered W. C. Fields read an erroneous report of his death in a Hollywood column several years ago and called up the editor in a rage. "I hope you noticed," he roared, "that your foul newspaper announced my death this morning." "That I did," admitted the editor coolly. "May I ask where you're calling from?"

"My girl insisted I take this course. . . . So when we marry I'll be a handy man around the house!"

Fire House Goes Into Operation

New No. 5 Station Ready Today

The new No. 5 fire station, the first addition to the Mansfield fire department since 1911, was scheduled to go into operation today.

All the work on the new fire house was completed yesterday except for the installation of telephones and that was scheduled for completion today.

The red brick building is on Marion avenue, near Cline avenue and was under construction for 10 months. The building cost approximately $60,000.

The new station will have two, three-man crews working 24-hour tricks. The fire captains to be stationed at the southwest side station are Ray Underwood and Leo Jones.

A 750-gallons-per-minute Seagrave pumper will be stationed at the building.

Today, Fire Chief L. J. Steele was conferring with several of his captains, mapping out the area that the new station house will cover when alarms are sounded.

The new fire house is the city's first since 1911 when the No. 4 station on Newman street went into service.

That structure recently was torn down to make way for a new, two-engine station at 411 Newman street. This new station now under construction will serve the northside industrial area.

Fire in a dwelling occurs once every two minutes.

Cheese Costs Defendant 10-Day Term

George West, Forest Garden Trailer camp, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail today after he was found guilty in municipal court of a charge of petit larceny.

West was charged with stealing a two-pound package of cheese from the Frankie Mitsch Corner store, 417 Orange street, on Oct. 16.

Roy Williams, Fairfax avenue, was fined $10 and costs for disregarding a traffic signal.

Doctor Hits Hill Alibi

MEDINA —(AP)— Clark Hill's personal physician testified today that the 19-year-old youth did not appear to be suffering from carbon monoxide fumes which Hill contends accidentally caused the death of his 17-year-old-girl friend.

Hill, a former Ohio State university student, is on trial for first degree murder. He is charged with giving Jeanette Weimer a sex stimulant, reducing her, then killing her by piping exhaust fumes into his automobile.

Dr. Frederick Kornfeld testified for the state that the breathing of carbon monoxide victims is "deep and slow, as in a coma."

"Hill's breathing when I examined him April 10, the day of the tragedy, was fast and normal under the conditions," the physician related under questioning by County Prosecutor William G. Batchelder jr.

Co. F Marks Anniversary

Company F, 145th Infantry Regiment of the National Guard celebrated its first anniversary last night at the American Legion home with 108 guardsmen and their guests present.

The company was activated Oct. 22 last year, and the dinner dance was held last night because it was the nearest Tuesday to that date. Company F meets regularly on Tuesday nights.

There were two large white layer cakes decorated with the unit's name and colors, and a reproduction of an American flag. They were rectangular-shaped, measured two by three feet, and were four inches thick. One was sent as a gift to the county Children's home.

Steel Stocks On Upswing

NEW YORK — (AP) — Steel stocks took over leadership of an advancing market at the start of trade today.

U. S. Steel hit a new high for the year on an opening block of 2,000 shares and a gain of ¾ point. Republic Steel also reached a 1948 peak on transfer of 1,000 shares and a ⅛ point advance. Youngstown Sheet and Bethelehem each opened at higher levels on sizeable blocks.

Berlin Has Everything—For a Price

Cigarets Used In Many 'Deals'

BERLIN (U P)—Like to build your own atomic bomb?

Well, grab a few cartons of cigarettes and stroll along Kurfuerstendamm, fabulous street of ruins; the Park Avenue of pre-war Berlin.

There you can shop around among the shadowy figures which lurk in rubbled back alleys and slither between the dim lights filtering through the curtained windows of the swank black market pleasure palaces

If you can't get a plan reputedly outlining each step in making atom bombs, the chances are you can pick blueprints of a purported top secret British battle ship or a chart mapping alleged Russia plans to invade Romania.

There's anything for sale in Kurfuerstendamm, and the street is overrun with spies.

Although many sensational phonies are peddled by the aspiring agents, Kurfuerstendamm's illicit traffic in "secrets" has not gone unnoticed by the legitimate agents of Germany's four squabbling occupiers

Agents occasionally have struck pay dirt in the street's lush champagne salons and bomb-wrecked back alleys.

A business man just back from the Russian zone can tip the western powers on new types of Russian tanks spotted around Leipzig. A German prisoner of war from Russia passes along a morsel about Russian atom experiments beyond the Urals

All the information, of course, has a price and cigarets still are negotiable in this divided city with two official currencies and most monies of the world circulating illegally

Kurfuerstendamm trades in sin for a living. There are black market meals of delicacies from both sides of the iron curtain, gambling luxurious Paris fabrics smuggled across 100 miles of Russian territory, and gaudy palaces of pleasure

Sources which can't be named still talk in hushed tones of a glamorous unnamed woman who enlisted beauties from three or four nations to ply Russian officers for secrets during intimate moments.

There are pictures circulating today showing leering Russians passionately embracing beauteous, thinly clad women, reputedly agents in the unnamed woman's employ

This woman is said still to be operating in Berlin. Whether or not some other power has bid higher for her talents, no one is prepared to say.

It is said, however, that she is a dangerous woman, her lovar available for gold, who learned t trade beauty for secrets long b fore the last war while workin an Egyptian house of assigna

The Rev. Avery Butler, of Bloomville, former pastor of the Butler church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music, played by Mrs. Grace Lincoln, preceded the ceremony.

Palms, ferns and beauty baskets of yellow and white pompons and mums decorated the church. Two seven branch candelabra and floral arrangements ornamented the pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a grey suit with matching accessories. Her hat was an off-the-face bonnet with pink and grey feathers. She wore a corsage of white roses and pompons centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Lewis Remy, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a lime suit with toast brown accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of pompons. The bride's mother wore a navy dress with frost accessories and a corsage of bronze pompons.

LOSES 60 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING, THANKS TO RENNEL

New Madison Lady Praises Reducer

"I am very happy to recommend Rennel" writes Mrs. S. Helmuth "When I started taking Rennel I was very overweight and was bothered with that overstuffed feeling. Now that I have lost 60 pounds I feel better in every way. I would have lost weight faster if I had watched my diet but I ate anything I wanted all of the time. That is what I like about Rennel. it isn't necessary to diet as it is with other reducing preparations. I also like the way it took care of that over-stuffed feeling."

Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple, go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle, take just two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel, no starvation diet, no printed diet list to buy, no expensive vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry for you WON'T be hungry. —Adv.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, October 21
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A DAY of intrigue and subtlety could anchor the affairs in exceptionally lucrative and pleasant fields of operation. Matters of major importance, of long-range and expansive view, come up for quick decision and may prove uprooting as to environs as well as to definite change in tactics or execution. Ambitions are heightened, the spirits generous and optimistic, with judgment and facilities dependable and creative. However, rash, too hasty or aggressive action could undermine sound work. Clever strategies or finesse could assist greatly in reaching advanced goals.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are assured a year of golden opportunity in which well-organized forces faculties and regulated ambitions and desires, could promote excellent scope for cherished ambitions with rich returns for worthy efforts. Favorable change, or journeys, new contracts and associations could bring much gratification with personal satisfactions in dealing with strangers as well as influential persons on friendly grounds. Undercover agreements or subtle manipulation could work out better than strenuous or forced issues. Tact and finesse, with the personal element, could flourish.

A child born on this day while ambitious and capable, may work its way to popularity and prestige by subtlety and cleverness, rather than aggressive and forceful measures.

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt
As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell
Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health. —Adv.

Mrs. Kasenkina's Story—No. 25

Soviet Ambassador Dashes Last Hope

By OKSANA S. KASENKINA
Edited by Isaac Don Levine

That the international spotlight would be turned on me, that I would be represented to the world as the protagonist of a bizarre plot, and that I would find myself a prisoner in the Soviet consulate, all within the span of a single afternoon, were inconceivable to me after I left the farm of the Tolstoy foundation.

Upon my arrival at the consulate, I was taken up to the study of Consul General Lomakin on he third floor There was a man in the room I had never seen before Lomakin introduced him· "This is our ambassador." I looked directly at Panyushkin and saw deep satisfaction written on his face at the sight of the quarry.

He greeted me coldly. Yet hope stirred within me as he said

"What a pity you didn't try to see me before. Didn't you know that the Soviet government had an ambassador in Washington? Why didn't you come to me in the first place?"

At last, I thought, here was a humane Soviet official who would listen to my grievances and would understand my plight, even my worries over my missing son I was prepared to hear him reproach me for concealing the fact that my husband had been purged and for my failure to sail back home on the scheduled boat.

★

I began to tell Ambassador Panyushkin of the persecution to which I had been subjected during my two years in the United States at the hands of the school and consular authorities, adding that I had never committed any crime I mentioned that I had become the butt of all the Party members around the school because of my constatnt anxiety to learn the fate of my son

"And where is your son?" the ambassador asked. When I told him that I had last heard of my boy on January 12, 1942, as reported "missing in action," he said laughingly: "Perhaps your son really is still alive."

The ambassador made no offer to have the army records checked or to help me in any way in my search for information about my son Instead, he cut the interview short

"We can't bother with such things now," he interrupted "We have to expose the Tolstoy Foundation and find out where the Samarins are"

★

Lomakin and Vice Consul Chepurnykh then took me in hand, Lomakin pointed to an adjoining room, the door of which was open, and said "This will be your room" I had noticed a cot in it, which seemed out of place in an office with three telephones, and decided that preparations had been made in advance to put me up there I realized that I would not be free to select a residence of my own choice, and was filled with apprehension that the room on the third floor would become my cell

My passport was taken up and examined. I never saw it again. Lomakin informed me that I would soon meet the representatives of the American press for an interview.

"You will tell them how you were kidnaped," he added I reflected that since I was apparently myself in the hands of kidnapers, how could I possibly stand up against them now?

When asked about my relations with Countess Tolstoy, I emphatically declared that she had had nothing to do with the planning which brough me to the farm of her Foundation I made up my mind that the name of the woman who had suffered so much from Soviet tyranny and was sacrificing herself for the Russian DPs must not be involved in the affair.

Who did help you?" Chepurnykh asked "We know all your friends and the people you met," he added Then he brought up the name of 'Gostello" or "Leo Costello' which I had once jotted down on a scrap of paper which had probably been picked up by my landlord Porojniakov, the consulate secretary As the reader already knows, it belonged to a casual acquaintance who frequented the same Central Park neighborhood that I did, and was probably not even his real name

★

"Tell them that the marks on your arm were made by Costello," Lomakin instructed me to say to the reporters

"We'll make a national heroine out of you in the Soviet Union," Chepurnykh said He led to buoy me up as he wormed out of me the name of "Dr. Korzhinsky", my other chance acquantance who had introduced himself to me on Riverside Drive as a compatriot from the Ukraine under the name of Kojansky.

In the course of the interrogation, when I was already in a state of exhaustion, I described how I met Vladimir Zenzinov, who took me to the Tolstoy Foundation farm, and told of my unhappiness there Chepurnykh then suggested that I rewrite my original letter to the consulate I balked at his dictation after I had started the new version with the same beginning "What happened had to be"

I was unyielding when I realized that what Lomakin and Chepurnykh wanted was a completely new version of my letter in which I would declare in writing that I had been kidnaped by white guards who had drugged me first, and taken me against my will to the Tolstoy Foundation farm Chepurnykh also dinned into my ears that the new letter must be short, to be exhibited to the press and must include some tribute to me to "the great Stalin, the leader of my beloved fatherland"

★

I would not budge, and dropped the pen Hurriedly Chepurnykh then outlined to me the highlights of the story that I was to give to the press downstairs. It was a nightmarish concoction of a plot which only NKVD minds could invent The design sketched by Chepurnykh teamed together to total strangers who had never met "Leo Costello" and Dr 'Korzhinsky" and entangled them with Vladimir Zenzinov and Countess Tolstoy, who had never heard of their existence.

As I was led downstairs to face a battery of reporters, in a condition of suppressed hysteria,—Chepurnykh warned me ominously

"Watch your step!"

1½ Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employes.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work—in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1½ billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody—Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

Love Letter of the Week: From Columbia University's Spectator: "Few national events of recent times called forth as long-lived a splash in the press as the announcement .that .Gen. Eisenhower would take over the administrative reins of Columbia and its subsequent developements "Breaking in Winchell's column in the late editions of the N. Y. Mirror of the June 19th, 1947, the syndicated tipoff said the General had been offered the post and would accept it the following fall. Next day the Herald Tribune front-paged: 'EISENHOWER Rejects Offer by Columbia.' "

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Five years ago next month Hans-Norbert Finkel came to the United States as a German war prisoner.

He had been captured in Tunisia with Field Marshal Rommel's Afrika Korps.

Finkel, now 28, is back in America again. This time he is a guest under different circumstances. He is one of 15 German editors and publishers attending a seminar of the American Press Institute at Columbia university.

These visitors from Europe's uneasy fulcrum attended a couple of news conferences here. They were impressed with the informality and freedom with which reporters questioned government officials, and said such conferences would have been impossible in Germany under Hitler.

★

They also said some nice things about America. But guests usually say nice things. Since Finkel, now political editor of Dena, American-licensed German news agency, had looked at the United States from both sides of the table, I asked him what he found most disappointing in this country

"This spirit of superficiality," he said, "and I don't mean just politically."

"Here, if you get an idea, you try to do something with it fast —give it a practical application. You say, 'let's try it.'

"In Germany we try first to find the theory underlying the idea. The German is bound to ask, 'What lies behind it?' and this is true of all Europeans."

Finkel said he thought one sign of superficiality here was the way the average American read his newspaper.

"There are usually four possibilities," he smiled. "The reader will look first at the comics, the baseball results, the weather forecasts or glance at the headlines. Only the fifth man will first read the news stories.

"The German has a different approach to his newspaper. He looks to it for advice, education and information. Our papers are much more influential politically than those here. The German reader has to feel that what his paper says is right."

The visiting editors seemed generally to feel that their papers were more accurate in the details of reporting than American newspapers, which are put out under more competitive conditions.

★

But they were more interested in discussing the world political situation than comparing journalistic methods. They had nothing but praise for the Allied airlift.

"It was for us the first positive evidence that you would perform what you promised," said Finkel.

A colleague, Helmut Meyer-Dietrich, chief editor of Der Tagesspiegel (the Daily Mirror), said Berliners were prepared to endure indefinitely the hardships imposed by limitations of the airlift supply system.

"We have this saying in Berlin: 'Better freeze another winter here than spend a lifetime in Siberia.' "

Meyer-Dietrich expressed belief that any advantage of shortened military lines the western powers might gain through a withdrawal from Berlin would be more than offset by a loss of political prestige throughout all Europe.

"Is it your opinion that United States, Britain and France should go to war against Russia, if necessary, rather than give up Berlin?"

"It isn't for us to say whether you should or shouldn't go to war," he said quickly. "We are only the battlefield."

Farmers Warned Of Soil Loss

Expert Urges Less Feeding of Grain

"One of the best ways to lose money fast is to feed your livestock on grains," C. M. Long, a soil conservation authority, told a group of farmers in Mansfield yesterday.

Long, whose home is in West Lafayette, Ind., talked to 36 farmers from four counties at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. In the afternoon they visited the 1,200-acre Charles Hoffman farm in Plymouth township.

Long was invited by Hoffman, Mansfield heating and plumbing dealer, to give new impetus to scientific farming here. Hoffman, one of Long's clients, sponsored the meeting while J. O. Hanley, of the Honegger-Hanley Mills, was program chairman.

Long said stock fed on grasses and a little grain would bring almost as much as stock fed on grain.

"Any moron can go out and grow grain crops," he declared, "and that is just why there is no real money in that kind of farming, because everyone can do it. However, in growing livestock, it takes some intelligence and planning," he pointed out.

Just as a businessman takes stock of inventory, the farmer should make a survey of his inventory which is the soil on his farm, Long said. "Once this is done, then fertilizer is added if needed, the crops that can be most profitably grown are determined, and the farm is starting to operate on a scientific basis," he asserted.

SOIL DISAPPEARING

Long warned the group that approximately 50 per cent of the country's precious topsoil has already disappeared. One of the greatest threats to topsoil is planting corn crops on rolling ground where it can easily wash away, he said.

In the afternoon the farmers were loaded on two trucks and an inspection was made of the Hoffman farm.

One of the predominant features of the farm is the wide planting of grasses and legumes, Long pointed out. "Soil can be built up in only one way and kept profitable and that is by planting grasses. Then it is only common sense to take a double advantage by using these grasses as feed for livestock," he explained.

The farmers asked Long various questions on his work and on scientific farm management.

The farmers represented Richland, Huron, Crawford and Ashland counties. Hoffman handled the arrangements while Hanley was master of ceremonies.

Workmen Raze Landmark In City

By DOUG CHEVALIER

The mechanical age is closing in on another Mansfield landmark.

Workmen are razing the old brick house at Third street and Franklin avenue, the site of Richland county's only legal hanging. The site will be used as a parking lot by William T. Houston, 456 Park avenue west, owner of an adjoining lot.

The old county jail stood at that corner in the late 1800's, and it was there that Edward Webb went to the gallows May 31, 1878.

Webb had been convicted of the murder of William Finney, an old and respected farmer, who lived three miles southwest of Mansfield. The brutal crime had aroused public resentment against Webb and a large crowd was on hand the day of the execution.

"The History of Richland County," published in 1880, contains the following account of the hanging:

"The execution was to be private and a high board fence inclosed the scaffold. As the time for the execution approached, the crowd grew boisterous, and developed into a mob.

"The company of militia, on duty as guard, was brushed aside with little ceremony, and the inclosure about the scaffold demolished in a few moments.

"A characteristic smile played about the mouth of the murderer, as he walked toward the scaffold, and knew that all this fuss was made on his account. He seemed, to the last, to have no comprehension of his awful doom, and was swung into eternity, without seeming to realize, know or care, what issues are involved in life and death."

Houston said removal of the old house will expand the capacity of the parking lot by one-third. The present lot accommodates 29 automobiles. Fifteen additional spaces will be provided. The house belongs to Houston, a retired assistant postmaster, and was built by his grandfather, John T. Crabbs, in 1880.

The structure is being razed by the Mansfield Wrecking and Material company. The two-story building contains nine rooms, and has a large attic. The razing is expected to take about three weeks.

Mrs. Bessie M. Weigand, who moved from the house recently had operated the place as a rooming house for the past 38 years.

Mrs. Good, who suffered lacerations of the scalp, was reported in fair condition today at General hospital. Miss Collier who suffered lacerations of the left hand was treated at the hospital and released.

Officers said the car in which the women were riding was driven by Miss Elizabeth Reitz, 73, also of Bellevue, who escaped injury. The accident occurred about 6:30 p. m.

350,000 Onlookers Soaked

Water Doesn't Dampen Spirits

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—The American Legion returned to the serious side of its convention today after a deluge during its parade last night damaged musical instruments, uniforms and floats but failed to dampen the carnival spirit.

The rain, which piled water curb-deep along the parade route, caused an estimated $7,500 damage to the Miami Harvey Seeds Post band alone. Some 350,000 spectators were drenched, too.

Arch Cantrell, chairman of the Legion's band contest committee, said no complete estimate had been made of damage to instruments, but at least 30 units were caught in the deluge which started about 8:30 p. m.

Ironically, the rains came just as the California delegation—headed by Gov. Earl Warren—swung into the line of march. Bands already in the parade switched from "Moon Over Miami" to "California Here I Come."

Cantrell said drumheads suffered the worst. Base drum heads cost as high as $30 each and snare drumheads from $7 up, he said.

Many floats were damaged, one about $3,000 worth. Spic and span uniforms were drenched and some were damaged, the extent of which was not yet figured.

Gov. Warren, GOP vice presidential nominee, planned to address delegates to the Legion's 30th annual conclave today.

Biggest spectacle ever staged here, the parade drew more persons than any single event in Miami's history.

There were 15,000 in the parade and state highway patrol Capt. Tobe Bass estimated the watching throng at between 350,000 to 400,000.

A light shower threatened the proceedings just as the parade started promptly at 4 p. m. (EST).

But the weather relented and for four and a half hours the Legionnaires turned downtown Miami into a fantasy of color, music and fun.

The parade continued an hour and five minutes after rain started falling at 8:30 p. m., but toward the end order fell apart. It looked like every man for himself as the final units splashed along, trousers rolled to the knees.

Gov. Warren, marching at the head of the California delegation, was drenched.

P-TA Backs Bond Issue

Members of Prospect P.-T. A. voted to contribute $75 to the publicity fund for the $2,250,000 school bond issue at a covered dish dinner and meeting at Prospect park pavilion last night.

Miss Margaret Wheeler, teacher at Johnny Appleseed Junior high school, talked to the group about the bond issue.

Nelson Neff, president, conducted the business meeting which followed the dinner.

Group singing was led by David Gregg. It was announced that this week is membership week for the P-TA.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kibler, membership chairmen, and Mrs. Ralph Faulk, hospitality chairman, were in charge of the meeting. They were assisted by the home room mothers.

At the next meeting, Nov. 9, open house will be held at the school in observance of American Education week.

Bucyrus Applauds Mansfield Mastersingers at Concert

By NITA BRANSON

The Mansfield Mastersingers gave definite evidence last night that they have passed the amateur stage and are well on their way to professional status. Confident, assured and tone perfect, they sang before a near-capacity house at the Senior high school in Bucyrus.

The Bucyrus Business and Professional Women's club sponsored the concert and was well-pleased both with the audience and the concert, according to Mrs. Ralph Schreck, president of the club.

Sharing honors with the Mastersingers last night was Joseph Pival, Mansfield violinist, whose fine technique and flawless tone were enthusiastically received.

The Mastersingers began their program with a new song, "Welsh Choral," by J. T. Reese. They continued with four numbers that have proved favorites with Mansfield audiences, including "Crusader's Hymn," Beethoven's "Hymn to Night," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

Pival opened the second part of the program with the well-liked "La Folia," by Gerald Leonard, and continued with Mozart's "Concerto No. 4 in D Major."

The second group of Mastersingers' songs were "Ol' Man River," and two by Romberg, "Desert Song" and "One Alone." "Oklahoma" had been scheduled, but by request, A. Lemoine Derr, director, changed the final number to "Dry Bones." They were encored for "Mosquitoes," "The Gospel Train" and "I Had a Robe."

Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois" opened Pival's second group. He then played "Hullamzo," by Hubay; "La Plus Que Lente," by Debusy, and Wieniawski's "Souvenir de Moscov." For encores he played "Schoen Rosemarin," by Kreisler, and "The Swan," by Saint Saens.

The "Battle Hymn of the Republic," one of the best numbers on the repertoire of the Mastersingers, closed the program.

Accompanists were Dr. F. A. Hoffman, official pianist for the Mastersingers, and Mrs. Margaret Hall for Pival.

Proceeds from last night's concert are to be used by the Business and Professional Women's club in Bucyrus to purchase refrigeration for the blood bank at City hospital.

3 Fighters Listed As Possibles

NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe Louis definitely will fight next June at the Yankee stadium against one of three opponents—Lee Savold, Ezzard Charles or Joe Baksi.

The champ said so himself yesterday when he announced he was giving up his four-month "retirement." It was no coincidence that Louis made his speech after a morning conference with Mike Jacobs and Harry Markson, the new managing director of the Twentieth Century Sporting club.

This action confirmed a statement of a month ago by Sol Strauss, then acting promoter of the Twentieth Century. Sol said Louis told him he would fight the Baksi-Charles winner if he thought the victor deserved a chance at the title.

SAME BIG IF

The same "if" was contained in Louis' formal statement, the first straight-from-the-shoulder announcement that he had changed his mind.

Here's what Louis said.

"I'm going to give the Baksi-Charles fight Dec 10 (at Madison Square Garden) the once-over and if it looks good I will fight the winner. If nothing comes out of that I might take on Lee Savold, who's pulling a good comeback."

Savold, an in-and-outer of several years in the fight game, now lives in Paterson, N J After failing several times to make it "big," he was shuffled into the ranks of the also-rans Last spring he capped a fine comeback by knocking out Gino Buonvino in one round He has been maneuvered into an excellent position.

Louis' announcement comes scarcely a week before he starts an exhibition tour of 13 cities on Oct. 28. He weighs 220, only 6½ pounds more than he did for the second Walcott bout

BELLVILLE—John Simpson junior high ran into too much size in the person of the Bellville reserve football team here last night and suffered its third defeat by a 21-0 score.

After playing a scoreless first quarter, size began to tell on the Mansfielders as they surrendered one touchdown in the second quarter and two more in the third Hamilton scored two of the Bellville touchdowns.

Only bright spots for Simpson was the running of Bill Ziegler and Louis Luckie. Ziegler ripped of three carries which totaled 75 yards while Luckie got loose for a 50-yard jaunt when a bad pass from center forced him to run on an attempted punt.

Simpson, which has won only two ball games will meet Johnny Appleseed for the city championship one week from tonight under the Arlin field lights

Veeck Can't See 3rd Loop

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— President Bill Veeck of the world champion Cleveland Indians, is one of the most imaginative men in baseball

But his imagination doesn't stretch far enough at this time to envision major league ball coming to the west coast for a long time

Veeck popped into town for a radio huddle with one of his stockholders — a comedian named Bob Hope — and took time out to answer a few queries by the Los Angeles Times baseball writer, Al Wolf

He repeated he is not planning to leave Cleveland, and put it this way: "No man can say he won't sell out or won't quit Offers can get so fantastic that he can't decline. But they'd have to be mighty fantastic in my case — too fantastic to happen"

Badger Pupils In Discussion With Coaches

MADISON, WIS. —(UP)— The University of Wisconsin student board approved an open forum discussion today during which football coaches could discuss with the students their criticisms of the direction of the team.

The board also unanimously passed a resolution opposing a referendum on whether to oust Coach Harry Stuhldreher, saying students are not the proper persons to legislate about coaching, especially during the middle of the season.

However, critics of the coaching staff still may force a referendum by obtaining 600 signatures to a petition Student sources said at least one such petition has begun to circulate

OPENS CRITICISM

Student criticism of Stuhldreher became public at the game with Yale here Saturday when a banner was hoisted in the stands saying "Goodbye, Harry" and the coach was booed Wisconsin, the favorite, lost the game, 17 to 7.

Team members have backed Stuhldreher, however, and University President E B Fred and the school newspaper, The Daily Cardinal, both deplored the demonstration.

The newspaper said in a front page editorial that the student action was the "worst bit of sportsmanship that any student body has even accorded its teams"

Williams Goes Off Baseball Trading Block

NEW YORK — (INS) — Ted Williams, who reportedly was offered as trading bait by the Boston Red Sox, probably will remain in Boston next season because the fans demand it.

Reports a few days ago said Williams was headed for Detroit in exchange for Pitcher Hal Newhouser and Third-baseman George Kell caused the greatest uproar in Boston since all that tea was tossed in the harbor.

Williams has had his ups and downs in Boston while he was growing up as a ball player and some of the customers still refuse to accept him.

However, the anti-Williams clique has diminished in numbers year by year. The Red Sox fans, as a group, want him to stay in Boston.

HAS FINE SEASON

The lanky outfielder has just completed one of the greatest seasons of his career. He led his league in hitting, and in doubles, in bases on balls and made at least 25 hits to left field to break up the shift against him.

The Red Sox are in no position to lose prestige with Boston baseball fans in view of the fact that the Braves won the National league pennant last season. The Red Sox need all the attractions they can get and Williams is number one on that particular hit parade

Without Wilhams, the Red Sox would be one of the dullest, most uninteresting ball clubs in the business. With Williams, they have an attraction which pulls customers through the gates wherever they play.

Grid Teams Play Benefit Contest

MT GILEAD—A benefit six-man football game between Edison and Caledonia high schools will be played here tonight at 8 o'clock

The game is a benefit for Fred Goare, Edison football and basketball mentor Goare was stricken with infantile paralysis after the first game of the football season He's reported "doing well" at the Children's hospital in Columbus

Statistics Pointing To Close Game

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Statistics, whatever they are, seem to point to Ohio State and Wisconsin having about the same horsepower in their respective football teams.

Thus Coach Wesley Fesler of the Buckeyes, preparing for Saturday's game against the Badgers in Ohio stadium here is giving his team plenty of drilling. He wants both to improve the Buckeye horsepower and to stop the Badger drive.

The Badgers have won one game in four, and the Buckeyes have won three in four. But both have netted 1,062 yards in rushing and passing.

COMMON FOE

Of course, the opposition was largely different, but sports statistics always veer into the realm of mumbo-jumbo, and both did play Indiana. Ohio State beat Indiana, 17 to 0, last week, and Indiana beat Wisconsin, 35 to 7.

Anyway, Fesler put the squad through a hard drill yesterday. The second stringers worked on offensive stuff all afternoon and the first stringers on defensive.

Fesler gave some emphasis to pass defense.

Jack Wilson of Xenia, who missed the Indiana game, was in uniform and apparently recovered from his injuries. Pete Perini of New Village, N. J, who also was out of action, came out for some backing and punting, but did no serious scrimmaging.

Fleitz Leads Ohio Scorers

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Bill Fleitz, one of the mainstays of the undefeated Big Red of Denison, continues today to lead the Ohio conference in scoring

Fleitz added a touchdown against Wooster last Saturday to bring his year's total points to 54, some 24 points better than the next four high scorers

Tied at 30 points each are Paul Miletti of Heidelberg, who was held scoreless last week, John Cipriano, also of Heidelberg; Joe Baugh, of Wilmington, and Wilbur Little, of Kent State.

Little scored two touchdowns last week, but honors for the week went to Bob McFarland, of Ohio Wesleyan. He lugged the pigskin across the goal three times against Case.

Bengal Teams Vie for Top Spot In Grid Sun

Vet Players Abound In Clash of Powers

By FRED THARP

A lot of young fellows with a lot at stake have a clambake scheduled Friday night in Arlin field.

And a lot of fans will watch the young men try to settle their grievances.

It all adds up to another meeting between the two ferocious bands of Ohio football tigers—the Mansfield Senior high Tygers and the Massillon Washington high Tigers. As usual both are at the forefront of Buckeye scholastic warfare.

A victory for either means a place in the first five in the state and possibly top ranking. However, a defeat will knock the losing team almost completely out of the title picture. Each has lost a game, Mansfield dropping its opener to Whiting, Ind. Washington high was defeated by Alliance just last week. Both were by two touchdown margins.

NEVER HAVE WON

The Tygers have never beaten the Tigers. This could be the year. Senior high has all of the necessary tools to fashion a victory. They've had the accruements before but three tie scores have been the best the Bengals, Mansfield variety, could do.

In the last meeting on Massfield soil, the two teams battled to a savage 12 to 12 deadlock.

Only one participant in that memorable battle is still on the scene. That's Al Brown, the little Massillon captain. Brown was only a sub in 1946 but he was the second leading ground gainer.

But a lot of lads who were around and about the gridiron in the 1947 brawl are back at the same old stand. In fact, twenty-six of the 1947 cast of characters will be suited up Friday. Sixteen of the group will be wearing the Mansfield white and 10 the Massillon burnt orange

FOURTEEN STARTERS

Seven of each team were in starting roles as Massillon won the 1947 renewal, 27 to 0. Three other Senior high lads, who are still in school, played a lot in that one. Ed Demyan and Pete Keiser started in the line and Jim Chamberlain was a defensive fullback. Keiser did not come out for football this fall. Demyan was removed from the squad for breaking training and Chamberlain is sidelined with injuries.

Mansfield starters still around are Bernie Weaver, Jim Miller, George Russell, Tommy Tucker, Lou Gregorio and A. C. Jenkins. Appearing in relief roles were Ken Carver, Tom Weaver, Mike Gruber, Norb Shibinski, Harry Osbun, Joe Letizia, Paul Ferguson, Howie Tipper and Don Cline.

The Tiger starters were Brown, Clarence Johnson, Dick Jacobs, Bill Morrow, Jack Houston, Joe Jones and Ben Roderick. Jack Hill Jack McVey and Mike Takacs subbed.

However, only four of the 1947 Washington high starters are listed as probables when the "play ball" whistle blows Friday. Only one of those will be playing the same position he held down last season.

CHANGES PICTURE

Chuck Mather, the quiet Massillon coaching gent, has done over the Tiger picture. And his work has paid off. Massillon wasn't one of Ohio's better teams by far at the end of the '47 season but Mather changed all that in a hurry.

The Tiger mentor brought in almost a new coaching staff when he moved up from Hamilton. The new system has accounted for victories over Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Canton Lincoln, Youngstown South and Steubenville. Massillon has 132 points to 55 for the opposition.

Morrow is the only 1947 regular playing at the same stand. Houston, a brother of the Cleveland Browns' Lindell Houston, teamed with Morrow at guard but now is an end. Johnson and Brown traded backfield spots. Brown goes at full and Johnson at right half.

Mike Takacs, a '47 fullback, is playing tackle.

Jacobs, Jones and Roderick, all regulars last year, are listed as subs now. They will be in there much of the time, however, as Mather uses a two-team system.

MAY BE READY

Jacobs was hurt in the season's opener and did not get back into action until the Alliance tussle. He only punted in that one but may be ready for longer service Friday.

Three sophomores—Tackle Jerry Krisher, Guard Gene Reichenback and Back Irvin Crable—have crashed the Tiger starting cast. Crable has scored five touchdowns this year.

Other starters are Don Slicker, end; McVey, center and Hill, quarterback.

For the first time this season, Mansfield will be going against a team of approximately its own size. Massillon averages 172.6 in the line and 162 in the backfield while Senior high goes at 165.3 on the forward wall and 160 behind it.

Norb Shibinski of the Tygers is the biggest of the lot at 195 and Carver is the smallest at 137.

Stanford Grid Coach Named Best of Week

NEW YORK—(UP)—His football team lost every game last season but he got a raise in pay anyway.

Things didn't look any better this year but still students and alumni remained loyal and were rewarded after he sprang the upset of the season on the Pacific coast.

He's the United Press coach of the week, Marchmont Schwartz of the oft-losing Stanford Indians who bowled over U. C. L. A. 34 to 14 Saturday with a four touchdown surge in the final half.

Not since the final game of the 1946 season had Stanford won a major game. Yet Schwartz, the handsome former all-America halfback from Notre Dame, was so popular on the campus that there was never one word of dissension, no grumbling about the weekly beatings.

Japan to Get Ruth 'Parks'

TOKYO — (INS) — The memory of Babe Ruth will be kept alive in the minds of Japanese childen under a plan adopted by the ministry of education.

The project calls for the creation of baseball grounds for children throughout the country.

A first contribution of 219,000 yen has been made toward realization of the project by the baseball league of Japan. This was part of the receipts obtained at games during "Babe Ruth Week" staged by the league.

Wisconsin Looks Better In Drills

MADISON, Wis.— (UP) — Coach Harry Stuhldreher said today that yesterday's practice session was the best Badger job of the year.

The Wisconsin varsity romped over the freshmen in a scrimmage which wound up after dusk. Stuhldreher said the passing and running were tops and the downfield blocking was solid.

"That's the way it should look," Stuhldreher said.

Big League Baseball Clubs Set Many New Fan Marks

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK—(AP)—No fewer than 20 assorted attendance records were broken as more persons watched major league ball during the 1948 season than ever before, according to unofficial figures compiled by the Associated Press.

Spurred by the American league's top paid attendance of 11,150,099 fans, reported by President Will Harridge, the majors coaxed 20,972,601 through the turnstiles. It marked the first time in history that the two leagues passed the 20,000,000 figure.

The National league slumped 5 per cent off the pace of 1947, attracting 9,822,502 compared to more than 10 million the previous season.

The world champion Cleveland Indians, who survived an epic playoff for the pennant and went on to whip the Boston Braves in the world series, led the record breakers.

The Tribe drew a staggering total of 2,620,627 into mammoth Municipal stadium for a new single club season record. That bettered the former mark of 2,265,512 set by the 1946 New York Yankees.

The Yankees, runners-up to the Indians, also bettered their former high by playing before 2,373,901 paid fans. Five other clubs — Detroit, Boston and Philadelphia in the American league, and Pittsburgh and Boston in the National—established new marks.

The Tigers lured 1,743,035, compared with 1,722,590, its record in 1946. The Red Sox, who bowed to Cleveland in the unprecedented playoff for the title, had 1,558,798 against the previous club mark of 1,427,315 in 1947. The Athletics, a surprise contender until the closing weeks, attracted 945,076 to better the old Philadelphia record of 911,566 in 1947.

Billy Meyers' Pirates, another surprise flag contender, packed 1,517,490 into Forbes field, cracking by 233,959 the park's record set last year. Pittsburgh's total also topped all other National league clubs.

BRAVES ALSO UP

The Braves, winning their first pennant since 1914, were the only other National league club to draw better in '48 than in '47, compared to six in the American. They played to 1,455,438. That was 178,077 better than in '47.

Ten teams drew at least a million, six in the National and four in the American. In addition to the Indians, Yankees, Tigers, Red Sox, Pirates and Braves, the Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals all topped the million mark.

Even the St. Louis Browns beat their '47 gate by more than 15,000, but since their entire attendance was 335,564, they remained the poorest club in the majors.

Mansfield's Top Football Crowd Set For Friday

Mansfield's biggest football crowd will view Friday's battle between Senior high school and Senior high school and Massillon Washington high.

George Sherman, Tyger ticket manager, announced today that a crowd of 13,000 is already assured for the contest. That's 1,500 more than ever has watched a grid game here.

Sherman predicted today that 15,000 persons would fill Arlin field Friday. Capacity of the concrete stands is 12,000 and another 500 can climb into the grade and junior high school bleachers on the east end of the field.

Sale of standing room has passed the 500 point. Sherman says only 2,000 standing room tickets will be sold. They're now at the high school and at Moorhead's. The ticket office at Arlin field will open at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

At least, 3,000 Massillon fans will watch the contest.

30 Indians Get Record Series Cut

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The world champion Cleveland Indians awaited receipt of checks from Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today for their record slice of the 1948 world series melon.

Each of 30 Indians will collect $6,772.07 for their series victory over the Boston Braves in six games. The losers have divided their share so that 31 players will receive $4,570.73 each.

Chandler's office said the players' money was put in the mail yesterday. It was sent in lump sums to the individual clubs for distribution to the players.

The Indians' individual shares top the previous record of $6,544.76 which the Detroit Tigers received in 1935.

Receipts for the six games of the '48 series, plus other items, totaled $1,633,865.56.

The Cleveland team, in dividing $230,250.29, gave four club members half-shares, three one-third shares and four others quarter-shares.

BRAVES VOTE 31

The Braves, after voting 31 men including Jeff Heath and Jim Russell full shares of a $153,500.20 pot, gave one player three-quarters of the full amount, another a half share and two other quarter shares. Three employes were given $380.90 each.

Marv Rickert, the Milwaukee outfielder who joined the Boston club at the end of the season to replace injured Heath, was given $1,523.58 through an executive order by Chandler. Other members of the team had voted on shares before Rickert came with the club.

John Antonelli, young pitcher who reportedly was given a $75,000 bonus to sign with the Braves, was excluded from the spoils in the voting of Braves' players, but Chandler made use of his executive power to give the youthful hurler $571.34.

Antonelli was with the Braves most of the season but pitched only three innings.

PAIGE GETS FULL ONE

Satchel Paige, Negro hurler who was bought by the Indians during the stretch drive, was one of 30 Clevelanders receiving a full share.

Other divisions of the series money among players:

National league—Second place St. Louis Cardinals, $1,341.52 full share each, third place Brooklyn, full shares of $898.72; fourth place Pittsburgh, full shares of $391.34.

American league—Second place Boston, full shares of $1,191.71; third place New York Yankees, $778.88 apiece; fourth place Philadelphia, full shares of $415.32.

★

Besides voting 30 full shares in their victory swag, the Indians also voted half-shares, worth $3,386.03 each, to Assistant Trainer Wallach Boch, club house attendant Frank Saylor, rookie Catcher Ray Murray, and bull pen Catcher Bill Lobe; awards of $752.45 each to groundskeepers Emil, Harold and Marshall Bossard, and one-fourth shares of $1,692.02 each to club house attendant Donald Doremus, bat boy Sheridan, and utility players Ray Boone and Al Rosen, who joined the team late in the season.

To Follow Team

WOOSTER — Wooster's migration day crowd, headed by the kilt-clad band, will follow Coach John Swihart and his Scot football team next Saturday when Wooster plays Muskingum at New Concord. It is the Muskies homecoming.

Joe Miller Leads Tyger Offensive

Bruising Joe Miller, the Tyger football captain, leads the Senior high offensive in figures released today.

Miller put on his greatest show against Springfield to pass Little Tommy Tucker in scoring and ground gaining. The 180-pound senior halfback carted the leather some eight times against Springfield for 152 yards.

Scattered among the eight carries were touchdown runs of one, 47 and 82 yards. Miller now has 406 yards on 34 attempts for an 11.9 average. He has seven touchdowns. Joltin' Joe's other scores have come on runs of six, 12, 31 and 87 yards.

Tucker played very little in the Springfield game, carrying five times for 25 yards. However, his average of 12.2 a carry is still tops. Tucker's 329 yards from scrimmage is 34 behind A. C. Jenkins. Both are juniors and each has scored five times.

DOWN THE LIST

Hammerin' Harry Osbun and Lou Gregorio, the top pair of ballcarriers in 1947, are far down the list.

The over-all ball carrying average is outstanding. The Bengal backs have lugged the leather 165 times for 1,420 yards, an average of 8.6 a carry.

Tyger passers have completed only 11 of 30 heaves. Paul Ferguson has made connections on 10 of the aerials for 110 yards. However, the only touchdown pass in the group was a 29 yarder from Don Cline to Ken Carver. The latter tops the receivers with six for 83 yards.

Senior high has amassed 126 points to 65 for the opposition. Averaging it means 25.2 offensively and 13.2 defensively.

Cleveland Barons Lose To Detroit

Champions of their class are the Cleveland Barons, but today they know just what that class is.

The Barons, American Hockey league champions, entertained Detroit's Red Wings, current leaders in the National league, last night and the Clevelanders were lucky to come out of the contest with only a 6-3 defeat.

Black Release Scheduled For This Sunday

CLEVELAND — (AP) — With a grin that looks a lot like old times, Don Black of the Cleveland Indians says he'll be released from Charity hospital Sunday.

And, not unexpectedly for a man who has been in bed for nearly six weeks with a brain hemorrhage suffered during a game with the St. Louis Browns, he amends:

"I sure will be glad to get out of here. I've been treated swell but I'm getting kind of tired of looking at these four walls and being all cooped up."

Whether Black will be able to slip back into uniform and pitch for the Indians still is in doubt. One physician advises him to try it, another says no.

Rockets Set World Photo Record

Cover Area From Mexico To Wyoming

U. S.-German Rockets Used

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Navy has announced that two camera-carrying rockets have taken the largest terrain photographs ever made.

The cameras were in a Navy Aerobee rocket, which reached an altitude of 70 miles, and a German V-2 which went up 60 miles.

Although the rockets traveled at approximately 2,700 miles an hour the photographs are clear. Pictures taken at peak altitude are clear enough to allow identification of mountains, rivers, highways, railroads, air fields, towns and cities and show the curvature of the earth.

The mosaic strip of photographs taken by two cameras mounted in the Aerobee show a strip of terrain estimated at 1,400 miles in length, stretching from upper Wyoming deep into Mexico and 400 miles wide, for a total area of approximately 300,000 square miles.

V-2 TOPS AEROBEE

In the V-2, a greater area was covered because the rocket was spinning slowly when it reached its peak altitude of 60 miles, thus allowing a circular sweep of individual photographers.

Distance along the horizon in the V-2 photograph is calculated at 2,700 miles. Total land area covered by the photograph was about 800,000 square miles.

The rockets were launched at the White Sands proving grounds, Las Cruchas, N. Mex.

We just bought some oil for your grandson

Once in a while you may hear someone give the opinion that the oil business is shortsighted—that it's out to get what it can "while the getting is good."

We thought of this, and smiled a little wryly to ourselves, the other day as we reviewed the $98,000,000 we've spent during the last five years for the purchase, discovery and development of underground crude oil reserves.

For some of that oil we've never seen . . . and chances are, we won't see all of it . . . for 10, maybe 20 years . . . when your youngest grandson will be a motorist.

Today Sohio's crude oil "proven reserves" are producing about 30,000 barrels of oil per day . . . or only a third of our refinery requirements. In addition to oil produced from its own wells, Sohio must purchase 65,000 barrels of crude oil per day from others.

If oil is to be kept flowing at a rate that will meet fully the expanding requirements of this generation and the next, expenditures for new oil reserves will continue to be large. For the business of producing oil is an endless one of exploration, drilling, pumping . . . exploration, drilling, pumping. And today, the wells must go deeper . . . and the costs go higher.

During the last five years, Sohio has put a total of $140,000,000 into new oil wells, pipelines, plants and equipment. This is a huge investment for a medium-sized company marketing mainly in one state. Earnings have not been enough to cover this needed expansion so we have borrowed more money and sold additional stock to provide the additional funds to do a big job . . . a job we believe you want done.

The better we live, the more oil we need . . . and to make sure we get it here in Ohio, Sohio is putting new money to work in record amounts.
